

ISTITUTO SECOLI

Istituto Secoli was founded in 1934 from the mind of Carlo Secoli, with the aim of spreading the sartorial tradition, the culture of Made in Italy and transmitting to students a solid technical method. A few years later, in the Milan headquarters, the first Patternmaking courses were developed, making the school the international reference point for the study of technical and applied design: the talents of Istituto Secoli have always been trained to fill some of the most sought-after roles in the fashion system. Istituto Secoli also offers a wide range of customized business support activities, embracing not only technical, methodological and qualitative issues but also organizational ones. In 2022 it opens a new branch in Novara in partnership with Alexander McQUEEN, Canali, Gucci, Herno, In.Co, Versace and Zamasport and dedicated to training future generations of prototypists.
